

NEWS & INSIGHTS

JT THOMPSON INTERVIEWED ABOUT PRIVACY AND SOCIAL MEDIA

November 27, 2016

In an interview about 3-year old toddler who was targeted in an Internet meme, JT Thompson – an attorney who practices in Lightfoot's Media and Communications Law group – told WBRC Fox 6 News reporter Lydia Hu that "Once you post something and put it in the public domain, photograph, comment, whatever, it is available to everybody to use as they see fit, basically is the bottom line."

Here is a link to the full article: Alabama toddler targeted in cruel Internet meme

In addition to media law, Thompson also handles cases in medical malpractice, product liability, and general business litigation.