December 30, 2018

Lightfoot, Franklin & White LLC is proud to introduce its new, fully redesigned website. The site was developed to align with the firm's client-first philosophy and includes user-friendly features to make it easier to navigate than ever before.

"The launch of this new website is an exciting milestone and the latest example of our firm's continued growth," said managing partner Melody Eagan. "The site reflects who we are as a firm: cutting-edge and client-focused."

The refreshed site includes custom photography along with updated biographies to showcase the firm's attorneys and their accomplishments.

"Our new website features a modern design with up-to-date information in a more visual format," said Emily Woloschuk, Lightfoot's Director of Marketing & Business Development. "It's now easier for visitors to get to know our attorneys and learn more about what we do best: providing strategic legal counsel when it matters most."

The reimagined "Experience" section highlights recent and noteworthy trials and appeals, and the "News & Insights" page is now organized by category, allowing visitors to easily view recent articles authored by Lightfoot's attorneys as well as news about events, awards, speeches and more.

Created with user experience in mind, the site is designed to be mobile-friendly, easy to search and compatible with all internet browsers.
