Lightfoot

ANTITRUST

Lightfoot serves as a trusted guide through the complex framework of modern antitrust law.

There has always been a tension between the economic necessity of innovation and the antitrust laws enacted to prevent harm to the competitive market. That has resulted in a changing, complex maze of state and federal regulations in which many businesses find themselves lost.

The lawyers in Lightfoot's Antitrust practice group have experience handling civil cases involving monopolization, unfair trade practices, price fixing and other violations of federal and state antitrust and consumer protection laws.

Lightfoot litigators have specific experience defending our clients against bet-the-company antitrust lawsuits, including class actions. We represent leading companies across a variety of industries, many of which are already operating in highly regulated environments. This includes energy industry businesses, medical device and pharmaceutical manufacturers and distributors, insurance companies and many others. Our lawyers also represent plaintiffs in antitrust lawsuits.
