

AUTO, AVIATION & TRANSPORTATION

If it moves people or goods, Lightfoot defends it.

Lightfoot has decades of experience representing companies across the spectrum of the transportation industry. We routinely help clients navigate litigation, NTSB investigations, and matters involving the FAA and TSA.

Whether a case involves planes, trains, buses, semitrucks or passenger vehicles, our attorneys understand the intricacies of the transportation industry and excel at resolving these issues effectively and efficiently. Having handled so many of these complex cases, we have the technical knowledge required to pursue the best results for our clients and can call on leading experts to support our efforts.

See why we've been trusted by major transportation companies for years and learn more about our specific transportation practice groups:

- Automotive
- Aviation & Aerospace
- Commercial Transportation